

NUMB3RS

CHARLIE STRUGGLES TO SOLVE AN EQUATION THAT MAY SAVE A LIFE

Neil Patrick Harris ("Doogie Howser, M.D.") Guest Stars

"Prime Suspect (#006) - Charlie struggles to help solve an impossible equation in order to save the life of a kidnapped little girl on NUMB3RS, Friday, February 18, 2005 (10:00-11:00 PM, ET/PT) on CBS. Lesli Linka Glatter directed the episode written by Doris Egan.

When a 5-year-old girl is kidnapped from her birthday party, Don and Terry are called to lead the investigation, but must rely on Charlie when they learn the girl's father, Ethan (Neil Patrick Harris), is a mathematician who is close to solving Riemann's Hypothesis, one of the world's most difficult math problems. Charlie struggles to help solve the impossible equation when the kidnappers ransom the life of Ethan's daughter for the solution to Riemann's Hypothesis, which if solved, could break the code for internet security; thus unlocking one of the world's biggest financial secrets.

Meanwhile, Charlie becomes upset when his father, Alan, decides to put the family home up for sale.
